

AMCOM Ombudsman

The AMCOM Command Ombudsman facilitates the acquisition process by promoting small business utilization, competition, and industry partnership, to provide the AMCOM products and services that give a decisive advantage to Soldiers.

Mission: Serve as the personal representative of the Commanding General and independent senior government official responsible for receiving and acting upon inquiries and complaints concerning AMCOM, which are brought to his attention by industry, the private sector, or internal government sources. Assist individuals and industry in resolving issues with the acquisition process.

The Ombudsman provides direct support to the AMCOM CG, DCG, and all AMCOM LCMC organizations to include ACC-Redstone, as the point person to industry to maintain the integrity of the acquisition process. Support industry by facilitating communication and providing a confidential forum to ask questions and promptly resolve acquisition issues. He serves as AMCOM's focal point for inquiries from individuals or firms in the business community expressing interest in conducting business with AMCOM. The Ombudsman will be readily accessible for discussion and will provide information and assistance to the business community.
